It’s the most wonderful time of the year!

‘Tis the season for reflecting on the year, counting your blessings & expressing gratitude, and preparing for the year ahead. At the IRC, we’ve been doing all these things as part of our Strategic Clarity process and I’m pleased to share what we’ve learned and what gets us excited about the New Year...

As we reflected on 2018, we’ve recognized the transition of leadership as a major theme for the year. The process of asking questions, revisiting strategies, and redefining our goals has pushed us to think beyond our comfort zone. And at a time when the entire recycling industry is also experiencing significant change, we have embraced it as an opportunity for intentional organizational growth.

In counting our blessings, we’ve surveyed our data and crunched the numbers. We’ve taken a hard look at our structure and processes for donor, member, and sponsor relations such that we’re undertaking a process to improve it. We’re particularly interested in ensuring we are effectively communicating with our partners in ways that are meaningful and relevant, helping them feel informed, involved, and invested in our work. The video below hints at ways we look forward to expressing our gratitude, and at the exciting work ahead!

Finally, as we prepare for the year ahead, we are beyond excited for the work that lies ahead and the partners we get to work with to accomplish it! We have new board members, new board leadership, a new perspective on our mission, organizational clarity on our priorities and clarity on how to achieve our goals.

That ‘how’ component is particularly exciting for me because it lays out who we get to work with, and the people are what make this organization so strong. We have the privilege of working with local, state, and national partners to solve big hairy problems that require complex and creative solutions, and we get to do it in a way that leaves a lasting, positive impact on the environment in the state of Indiana. If that isn’t something to be grateful for and excited about, I don’t know what is!

So as we head into 2019, we are grateful and excited to count YOU as one of our partners. We look forward to your continued support and engaging your passion for our mission in new ways!

From all of us at the IRC, we wish you Happy Holidays and a prosperous New Year!

Sincerely,

Alyson Mitchell
The IRC has been undertaking a strategic clarity process over the past several months. This has included constituent surveys (thank you to those who participated!), staff and board interviews, data analysis, and a one-day staff and board retreat which was held on December 7.

Thank you to our board members for their time and dedication to the IRC and to Cummins for hosting our meeting.

We will be finalizing our plan in early 2019 and will share our vision then!
